CAPTAIN JOHN SMITH

WILLIAM WIRT HENRY LECTURE BEFORE THE A. P. V. A.

Deeply Interesting and Instructive Style to a Large and Most Culti-

The second of the series of lectures under the auspices of the Association for the Preservation of Virginia Antiqui-ties was delivered in the Hall of the House of Delegates last night. Both the floor and the galleries of the hall were crowded, and many persons were turned away from the doors, it being impossible to provide seats for them.

Bishop Newton introduced the lecturer

Hishop Newton introduced the lecturer, Hen. William Wirt Henry, LL. D., whose subject was "1606-1616-Captain John Smith and the Story of Jamestown."

Mr. Henry has given especial attention to the study of the character and career of Captain John Smith, and sandled his theme in a deeply interesting and instructive manner. The audience was one of the most cultivated ever assembled in Richmond.

After complimenting the association for

This is known as the Oxford tract, and being the account given by Smith's companions of occurrences during his stay in Virginia, was used by Mr. Henry as authority. The speaker gave an account of the trials and difficulties which beset the colony, and of the services rendered by Smith in preserving it and preventing its abandonment.

SMITH'S ADMINISTRATION.
The wise administration of Smith as President—1608-169—was described; also, the flourishing condition in which he left the colony on the 4th of October, 1609, when, because of a severe injury which he received from an explosion of a bag of gunpowder, he was forced to return to England to obtain medical assistance. The sad condition to which the colony was reduced within six months thereafter was pictured, its abandonment being prevented by the timely arrival of Lord Delaware with large reinforcements and provisions.

Delaware with large reinforcements and provisions.

The speaker concluded with the splendid tribute to Smith by George S. Hilliard, one of his biographers: "Wherever upon this continent the English language is spoken his deeds should be recounted and his memory hallowed. His services should not be not only not forgotten, but should be freshly remembered. His name should not only be honored by the silent canvas and cold marble, but his praises should dwell living upon the lips of men, and should be handed down by fathers to their children. Poetry has imagined nothing more stirring and romantic than his life and adventures, and history upon her ample page has recorded few more honorable and spotless names."

At the conclusion of the lecture Rev. Dr. Hoge arose and moved that the thanks of the audience be tendered Mr. Henry, and the motion was adopted unanimously.

The next lecture will be by Mr. Thomas, of Isle of Wight.

FOR WASHINGTON'S BIRTHDAY.

A meeting will be held next Thursday night at Odd-Fellows' Hall by members of the Junior Order United American Mechanics to arrange for the exercises to be held on Washington's birthday.

Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Hungerford gave a birthday party Friday night to their little daughter. Ruth. which was greatly enjoyed by the young folks present.

The butterfly tea given at the residence of Mrs. Laura A. Vaden last night was a very enjoyable affair. It was for the benefit of Christian Band, from Central Methodist church.

Messrs. J. F. DuVal. R. A. Vaden, H. P. Brandis, and C. R. Craig compose the committee who have in charge the arrangements of the entertainment to be given the 15th of this month, the occasion being the anniversary of the Laurel Literary and Athletic Club.

MRS. MARY ARCHER ROBERTS.

The Funeral To-Day.

Mrs. Mary Archer Roberts, wife of Mr. R. R. Roberts, whose funeral will take place from her late residence this afternoon, was esteemed by all her friends a rare and saintly spirit. She was the second daughter of Rev. Dr. T. G. Jones, of Norfolk, Va., in which city she was born. She passed her girlbood in Nashville. Tenn., where her father was formany years a pastor, and where the pursued a thorough course of study, and graduated with distinction. Mrs. Roberts possessed by nature a mind unusually alert, active, and logical, which was further developed by systematic self-culture. She was fond of reading, read widely but wisely, examined carefully into all subjects which she considered, and formed her own conclusions as to the truth, merits, and worth of what she read. She came to this city as a bride a few years ago, and from the first her intellectual and social nature drew to her a circle of select and devoted friends. Mrs. Roberts was a member of the First Baptist church of this city. Though for years more or less an invalid, and denied on that ac-

She had been long a devoted member of the Baptist communion, and in all of her relations in life had done faithfully whatever her hands found to do. She leaves six children. Mr. J. C. Parkinson, of this city, is also her son.

Richmond dealers in country produce complain that a great deal of butterine is being sold on this market as butter, and that the effect has been to reduce the price of first-class butter to a figure at which it will not pay country people to make it. The wholesale handlers of butterine say that every package of that article they sell is distinctly marked "butterine," as required by law, and that any one selling butterine as butter is liable to prosecution in the United States courts.

Mr. Meredith May Accept.

The committee appointed by Powhatan Club to wait upon Mr. Charles V. Meredith and inform him of his election as president of that institution were to have done so yesterday afternoon, but owing to previous engagements deferred the visit until this morning. While Mr. Meredith has not yet signified whether or not he will accept the honor thus conferred upon him, it is generally thought that he will, inasmuch as he was the unanimous choice of the club.

DR. FRENCH'S STRANGE POWER |

HIS WORK OF MERCY IN RICH-MOND.

Curing the Sick Poor in Sanger Half.

The strange and marvellous work t formed by Doctor French in Sanger Hall in treating the sick poor every morning from 10 to 11 o'clock is certainly a worthy formed by Doctor French in Sanger Hall in treating the sick poor every morning from 10 to 11 o'clock is certainly a worthy charity. It brings forcibly to mind the healing of the sick in olden times, and if the same cures that are being made every morning by Dr. French in Sanger Hall had been performed even two hundred years ago, they would have been looked upon as miracles, and would have become a matter of history. Dr. French will continue to heal the sick every morning in Sanger Hall until further notice. He invites both the well and the sick to attend his clinics, and witness the strangest power ever given to any man. He treats all forms of chronic disease with equal success, and his description of the different diseases that come upon the platform for treatment will both interest and instruct you. During the unpleasant, storny weather of the last few days there have been from two to three hundred in the hall to listen to Doctor French's lecture, which will give some idea of the interest that is being taken in them. Among those treated this morning was a gentleman who had to have assistance to walk, on account of rheumatism in the knees and limbs. He was so lame that it was impossible to sit down without help, and when sitting he could not get into an erect position without help to raise up. After a few minutes' treatment by Doctor French he was able to get up and down with perfect case, and, as the gentleman stated, without a trace of pain. He also was afflicted with rheumatism in the shoulders, until the muscles had become stiffened and so sore and tender he could not raise his hands to his head, and he stated his arms had been in that condition seven months, and in less time for treatment than it takes to write it he was able to put his arms up and to swing them about in a manner that would make it dangerous for small boys to be near. Another was that of a lady treated for neuralsia, who was cured almost with a touch of the Doctor's hand. Another, a boy with a siff knee, was made to bend the knee and kick
